--> Comment Text : Radioactive-substance storage is certainly a must. However, unless any storage facility built, anywhere, can be unequivocally and absolutely guaranteed to have its half-life be equal to or better than the half-life of its storage contents and containers, it is simply NOT satisfactory.

So far nothing has come forth from our government and its contractors to even approach believability to that end. When THAT believability can be provided, then you really have something to sell. Until then, please consider this my permanent protest.
